Tri-Town to Honor Vets with Ceremonies

By Jean Perry

November 11 is a significant date in history – for the United States and for the world. At the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month in 1918, “the war to end all wars” was officially over when the armistice between the Allied nations and Germany went into effect.

We now annually observe the significance of this date by honoring all veterans of all wars on Veterans Day, which became an official national holiday in 1938.

Each year, Tri-Town honors its vets during two different ceremonies in Mattapoissett and Marion and a dinner in Rochester.

In Mattapoissett, the Florence Eastman Post 280 of the American Legion will host its annual Veterans Day observance at Old Hammondtown School at 11:00 am.

The guest speaker this year is Technical Sergeant Sara D.J. Garde, a decorated veteran who has served in the Armed Forces for over 15 years.

Enlisting in the Army in 1996, Garde then spent three years in the National Guard before joining the Army reserves just after September 11, 2001. She served an 18-month deployment to Kuwait and Iraq in support of Operation Enduring Freedom and Operation Iraqi Freedom.

In 2008, Garde enlisted in the Air Force Reserves as a medical technician and, in 2012, she was deployed to Germany for six months to care for wounded military personnel and civilian personnel. She has since earned her Bachelor's degree in Practical Nursing technology and is currently the education and training manager of the Aeromedical Staging Squadron at Westover Air Force Base in Chicopee, Massachusetts.

Garde has received 17 military awards and decorations including the Bronze Star Medal, Army Commendation Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, Iraq Campaign Medal with Bronze Star Device, and Army Overseas Service Ribbon.

The ceremony will feature the Old Hammondtown Concert Band and HMS Chorus, a prayer by Chaplain Richard Langhoff, and a speech by State Representative William Straus.

The Town of Mattapoisett will offer free lapel pins to Mattapoisett veterans who attend the ceremony. If any Mattapoisett veterans wishing to receive a pin are unable to attend, they may contact the Department of Veterans Services by calling 508-758-4100 ext. 212.

In Marion, the Benjamin Cushing VFW Post 2425 will hold its Annual Town of Marion Veterans Day Observance at 11:00 am at Veterans Memorial Park on Front Street.

Belmiro J. Barros, Jr. serves as the commander, and Master of Ceremonies is Colonel Joseph F. Napoli, Ret.

The short program will honor all veterans, past and present.

The Rochester Council on Aging will host its Annual Veterans Day Dinner on Tuesday, November 10 from 5:00 to 8:00 pm at the Senior Center located at 67 Dexter Lane. Tri-Town veterans are invited to attend. Attendees must register ahead of time and make a reservation, as every year the event fills to capacity. To make a reservation, contact 508-763-9315.

A Holiday By Any Other Name

This Mattapoisett Life

By Marilou Newell

Once upon a time, there were two holidays and one festival whose names evoked joy. The holidays were Thanksgiving and Christmas. The festival that preceded them was known as Halloween.

Then a frighteningly terrible thing happened – the power of mass marketing coupled with the retail engines of commerce blended them all together. Now we have one massive commercial blitz that begins in early October and ends in mid-January. Maybe we should give it a new name in keeping with what it does to the human psyche: Hallowthanksmas.

Regardless, it does seem, at least to this aging child, that there was a kinder, gentler time when we paced ourselves and enjoyed these consecutive events as separate, individual, and unique.

Back in the day, mass media wasn't in full swing. TV was a new invention and even radio commercials were tiny tame tidbits that didn't invade one's enjoyment of programming. Now the programming punctuates the marketing space.

Halloween was a time to use one's imagination, to dream up costumes a kid and a parent could make out of whatever was laying around the house. Ghosts from old white sheets, pirates with a cardboard eye patch, Zorro with a eye pencil mustache, or cowboys with a bit of rope and a broomstick horse were fun and cost next to nothing.

Trick or treating from house to house in neighborhoods where everyone participated and where safety wasn't an issue but was taken for granted really did exist.

And no one, no one at all, was thinking about Thanksgiving or Christmas in October. We absorbed ourselves in thinking about our homemade outfits, decorating pumpkins, and eating our stash of candy slowly over the following days.

Thoughts of Thanksgiving began about two weeks before the actual day.

In the neighborhood I grew up in, people were simply glad to have the day off from work to enjoy a feast with their family and friends. It was a time to be at home together with the mouthwatering smells of turkey and pie. Simple, uncomplicated tables were laid out with cranberry sauce, stuffing, and gravy. Leftovers were a highlight in the days that followed, and a sense of peace prevailed.

And then came Christmas!

It seemed to take forever to arrive. The days leading up to Christmas morning were full of cards being sent and received in the mail, homemade gifts being hidden from prying eyes, and dreams of stockings filled to overflowing with fruits and candy. Religious celebration wasn't a significant part of my family's dynamic, but years of Sunday school lessons drove home the point of the holiday: the baby Jesus. The one that stays with me most today is the importance of kindness.

These three consecutive events were like waves, with each successive wave slightly larger than the one before and with Christmas being the largest. And each stood on its one merits, contained its own magic, and was enjoyed each in its own way. Now, it seems, they are melted into a hodge-podge of non-stop visual and audio noise.

A neighbor a few doors down from me seems to have made his yard a statement of the insanity – the front lawn displays witches and Santa Claus. Oh yeah, and one rather strange pink pig with wings. A final comment on “the holidays” possibly – when pigs fly.

It's like that Tim Burton movie, The Nightmare Before Christmas. Was Burton's intention to show how far marketing has gone in making us dance to the tune of shareholder's value versus the value of family and tradition?

I don't know. But what I do know is that kids today are missing out on something significant: the joy of anticipation. It's almost as if kids don't get to experience the gradual easing into each cold season event, savoring them as special and sweet. They, like the grown-ups around them, are swept up in the frantic pace of non-cash transactions seasoned not by sugar and spice, but by black-Friday pricing.

Give me the good old days when construction paper greeting cards were labored over on dining room tables piled high with pipe-cleaners and glitter, when baking from scratch was the only kind of baking known, and when joy was found in the simple, blissful reading of 'Twas the Night Before Christmas. And, one of my personal favorites, see if you can also remember driving down the main streets of town to “see the lights.” It was considered a highlight of the season.

One person I discussed this massive holiday mash-up with said, and I quote, “Why not make it just one day? Put gifts around a pumpkin, stuff one bird, and dress up in costumes for a holiday parade that includes a Santa seated in front of a Christmas tree tossing candy corn and turkey legs to innocent children!"

No, those days are gone, at least for the time being. Just give me the good old days when October, November, and December held very different and very special occasions to celebrate the family – not the value we represent to multi-national conglomerates.

I wish we could go back in time to when everything was closed on Thanksgiving Day except for warm kitchens filled to overflowing with delicious home-cooked foods and love. Still, for the present time as the season nears, I look forward with memories that wait for

Former Mattapoisett Men are Drag Racing Legends By Charlie Hiller

Two former Mattapoisett men who made quarter-mile drag racing history in the 1960s brought home the California gold in 2015.

In October of 1958, David Vermilya from Atkinson Way and two of his friends headed toward Southern California stuffed in a 1932 Ford pickup truck. Vermilya owned a 1934 Chevy powered Ford convertible, but opted for the pickup. They planned to get jobs, spend the winter, and then return home. The two friends came home; Vermilya stayed 11 years.

Shortly after, Nick Marshall from North Street and a friend headed west in Nick's Olds powered 1934 Ford coupe. Their main interest was the hot rod and drag racing scene and "Bones" Balogh, Nick's drag racing idol.

After years of racing their own cars or teaming up with others, Vermilya and Marshall got together and built a top fuel dragster (AA/FD). It was decided Marshall would be the fearless driver who would later be known as "Slick Nick."

These two did their own engine design and building, figured out traction and handling problems and all the other work required, plus both had excellent full-time jobs.

Taking time off from work, they toured the country's drag strips, setting record after record. Their accomplishments include Top Eliminator in Pomona Valley, California, and then they went east to Sanford, Maine, where theirs was the first car to top 200 miles per hour. They won Top Eliminator in Cordova, Illinois, and they won low elapsed time in Bakersfield, CA where they also won top speed against 105 AA/FDs.

They went on to Long Beach, CA where they won top speed, low elapsed time, and Top Eliminator, 214 mph, 7.41 seconds elapsed time; in West Salem, Ohio, they won top speed of the meet at 216.85 mph and Top Eliminator. At the Indianapolis Nationals, they won top speed at 218 mph. In Irwindale, CA, at the Goodyear Tire Test, Marshall and Vermilya turned the highest speed ever recorded at 220 mph.

Over the years, the two have been inducted into the Ty-Rods New England Hot Rod Hall of Fame and the Orientals Hot Rod Club Hall of Fame. Finally, after 49 years, the California Motorsports Museum inducted Marshall and Vermilya into the National Hot Rod Association Hall of Fame, presented to them this summer at the third Annual Hot Rod Reunion in Epping, NH.

Vermilya now lives in Rochester, MA with his wife, Caryl, drives his fully-restored '33 Ford Convertible, and works full time as a machinist.

Marshall lives in Keller, Texas, with his wife, Sally, drives his 700 hp, 180 mph 2008 Corvette, and is retired.

The Marion Board of Selectmen voted on November 3 to move forward with an application for a New England Program Water Quality Management grant, although voters at the October 26 Special Town Meeting tabled the article to appropriate $50,000 to obtain the $200,000 grant to study the feasibility of expanding municipal sewer service to Aucoot Cove residents of Marion and Mattapoisett.

Voters expressed concerns about such a project, asking who would pay for the sewer expansion, why

Dawson posed the question on public policy: "What exactly is the will of the voters here?"

Chairman Stephen Cushing pointed out that moving forward with the grant application does not commit the Town to the sewer expansion project. Dawson commented that no one was even sure whether it was possible or not. They all agreed on one thing, however – going for this grant might reflect positively on the EPA as it makes its NPDES decision.

"We're trying to deal with a federal agency that has a really large hammer and they're about to hit us with it," said Cushing. And the selectmen are looking to shield the town from taking "one hell of a hit," as Cushing put it.

Furthermore, the motion made by Town Meeting was to table the article – not reject it, as selectmen pointed out.

Unanimously, the board voted to pursue the grant, using the value of $50,000 of in-kind services instead of the cash as the town's contribution.

In other matters, selectmen voted to offer the harbormaster position to current Assistant Harbormaster Isaac Perry, although Henry first recommended the Town move ahead with a formal application process "to see what's out there."

"I have spent some time at the harbormaster's office. I observe what goes on," said Cushing, who said Perry could easily move into the position with competence and confidence. "I don't see a real need to go through the whole posting and interviewing when we have a very, very strong person in ... the position."

Selectman Jody Dickerson agreed.

"I just think this person is perfect for the job," Dickerson said. "I think, if we've got steak, why have hamburger?"

For the record, Dawson said, Perry has submitted a letter of interest in retiring Harbormaster Michael Cormier's position. Cormier officially retires January 1, 2016.

Also during the meeting, selectmen accepted the recommendation of the Board of Assessors to raise the tax rate by 20 cents and to keep a single tax rate rather than split the tax rate between residential and commercial

Rochester Postpones Special TM Indefinitely

Rochester Board of Selectmen

By Jean Perry

The Rochester Board of Selectmen voted November 2 to indefinitely postpone the November 30 Special Fall Town Meeting until pending legislation finally resolves the matter of the 2015 Annual Town Meeting's lack of a quorum.

In light of the after-the-fact discovery of the absence of the quorum, the Town contacted the attorney general's office and was required to file special legislation to accept the results of the Town Meeting votes; otherwise, the town meeting would have to be repeated.

Town Administrator Michael McCue said, with the legislation still under review by the Joint Committee on Municipalities and Regional Government, it would be best to hold off on holding a subsequent Special Town Meeting until the previous one was officially accepted.

McCue said the move was intended to "give the townspeople the assurance that everything is settled."

"We don't want anything hanging over the Special ... if there's any question on the legality of the Annual," McCue said during a follow-up interview.

McCue said he would be attending a hearing in Boston with the joint committee on November 13 to hold informal talks on the special legislation. McCue said, given the circumstances, he could not guarantee the issue of the Annual would be resolved by November 30. Furthermore, with the holiday season approaching, he doubted there would be any subsequent Special Town Meeting until further into 2016.

"I felt it made more sense to make sure that we had a successful Town Meeting that is not a question anymore."

Selectmen voted unanimously to postpone the Special.

In other matters, the board voted to accept the donation of a roughly 100-acre parcel on Snipatuit Road from the Melink Corporation, developers of a proposed solar farm abutting the land. Concerns over liability to the Town were put to rest once the town's insurance provider told McCue that there would be no additional costs to the town's insurance policy.

"My concerns ... centered around exposure of the Town and costs to the Town," said McCue. "The exposure to the Town would be minimal ... if not non-existent."

Concerns about the loss in tax revenue were also dispelled, given that the loss to the Town would only be $78.

Also during the meeting, Water Commissioner Fred Underhill introduced a draft of a proposed bylaw aimed at curbing local businesses and commercial entities from the unpermitted taking of water from area natural water resources for commercial gain.

The proposed bylaw comes on the heels of a number of recent complaints that local landscaping company Yard Boss had been pumping water from Snipatuit Pond and from the Mattapoisett River off Route 6 directly into its hydro-seeding equipment truck without a permit and without any visible safeguards in place to protect the environment from cross-contamination.

Underhill said all four towns – Rochester, Marion, Mattapoisett, and Fairhaven – belonging to the Mattapoisett River Valley Water Supply Protection Advisory Committee would need to adopt a similar bylaw because they are “under the gun from DEP...”

“And here we have commercial entities that are coming in and taking out water resources, selling it ... sometimes on private property,” said Underhill. “We have some serious problems.... The DEP is forcing the water departments in the three towns ... to do a lot of mitigation and it’s gonna get very expensive and it’s requiring the district to monitor the flow of the Mattapoisett River and if there isn’t enough water going down there, we’re gonna have to take strict measures to cut off people from using outside water.”

The bylaw was to appear on the November 30 Special Town Meeting but will instead be reviewed and approached at the next scheduled town meeting.

I realize that I should take my cat to the vet annually to get a physical and whatever vaccinations may be due, but getting the cat into the cat carrier is a chore. Any hints?

Cats are not dumb. If they see the cat carrier come out they disappear. Some cats don’t mind the carrier if it is left out all year round. Feed them in the carrier, allow them to nap in it, let it be associated with more pleasant experiences than a car ride.

If you haven’t gotten the cat to think positively about the carrier, put the cat in a bathroom prior to getting the carrier out of the basement. That way the cat can’t disappear. Bring the carrier into the bathroom and keep the door closed so the cat won’t escape. Feliway is a pheromone that may decrease your cat’s anxiety when it is sprayed or wiped on the carrier.

Lack of Responsiveness Allegations Debunked

Mattapoiset Planning Board

By Marilou Newell

It was deep into the evening's meeting before Attorneys Brian Winner and Jonathan Silverstein of Kopelman and Paige, Mattapoiset's town counsel, were asked to join the Mattapoiset Planning Board at the conference table. But once seated, Silverstein went directly to why he and Winner were present: to defend their responsiveness and attention to the town's legal matters.

"I was in the unpleasant position of reading in The Wanderer that Mr. [John] Mathieu and the Planning Board said we were unresponsive – that allegation is false," Silverstein asserted. He said that the Planning Board's secretary Tammy Ferreira and Chairman Tom Tucker both had the attorneys' cell phone numbers. "The building inspector has called me on weekends, and I've gotten right back to him."

Silverstein said Mathieu had leveled the same accusations at his firm in 2012 and Silverstein had to come forward with evidence to counter those false statements. He was troubled to find it happening again. "Why would this be happening again?" he wondered aloud.

Silverstein had wanted to address his comments and questions directly to Mathieu during this meeting. Mathieu, however, was not present.

"A few years ago we had to take action against him ... that was nothing personal," said Silverstein. "We were representing the Town." He then produced hardcopies of email responses and a telephone log as evidence that he and Winner had, in fact, been responsive and provided the guidance requested by the Planning Board in a timely manner.

The issue was Mathieu's request that town counsel review covenant language changes drafted by the Planning Board for the Villages at Mattapoisett and Brandt Point Village in their petitions for public trash

"We are not perfect, but we strive to be responsive," Silverstein stated. "But to have to read in the newspaper allegations that this is the type of treatment you get all the time is unfair."

"All I have in my business is my reputation," Silverstein told the Planning Board members.

Board member Karen Field offered apologies on behalf of the board. Member Mary Crain said that, as a town planner in another community, her experience with Kopelman and Paige had been excellent and found them very responsive.

"That's why I said I thought it was bizarre," Crain told Silverstein.

"I'm in charge of making sure that Mattapoisett's needs are met," Silverstein said. Silverstein and Winner told the members to call their cell phone numbers any time.

Tucker thanked Silverstein and Winner.

In other matters, garnering more than an hour of the evening's meeting was a discussion between Mattapoisett Highway Superintendent Barry Denham, Joe Furtado, the developer of Brandt Point Village, and residents of the troubled subdivision.

Furtado had been invited to attend the meeting by Tucker to afford the residents and the board members an opportunity to publically air their ongoing concerns. The list of issues the residents brought to the meeting contained such things as failing driveways, incomplete stormwater drainage systems, unverified septic maintenance, roadway construction integrity, and various environmental concerns.

Time and again during the conversation, Furtado assured the residents that he would take care of everything that was wrong saying, "I've been dealt a can of worms ... I'm going to do whatever needs to be done."

Furtado's site subcontractor, Bill Milka of Reliable Excavating, received praise from the residents for work he has done thus far, but they remained skeptical that Furtado's word was sufficient.

Tucker told them that Furtado was significantly motivated to get things done correctly due to his investment in Phase Two of the project.

Attorney Silverstein suggested that the chairman direct the secretary to draw up a letter listing all the items that needed to be done at the massive residential neighborhood to document Furtado's commitment. Tucker agreed that would benefit all concerned.

The residents of the subdivision also received an amendment to their covenant in the form of an additional item. After petitioning the board for public trash collection and after legal review of language, the Planning Board moved to grant their request.

This prompted resident Paul Osenkowski to ask if public comment was being circumvented. Tucker said, "We've talked about this ad nauseam." He then recognized Osenkowski.

Osenkowski declared, "This is a slippery slope ... I don't think you have any right to change the agreement." He continued, "Your responsibility is to the whole community!" He said that by allowing this subdivision to opt into trash collection, costs would increase for all residents.

"We take our advice from town counsel," Tucker told Osenkowski. Silverstein confirmed that the Planning Board did have the authority to make covenant changes, adding, "We don't comment on the policy ... so we don't comment on whether it is a good decision or a bad decision."

The next meeting of the Mattapoisett Planning Board is scheduled for November 16 at 7:00 pm in the Mattapoisett Town Hall conference room.

After a brief review of previous meeting notes – of which two were amended to fix grammatical errors – CLE Engineering submitted an Approval Not Required request for 99 and 100 Moorings Road on behalf of Dola Hamilton Stenberg and Moorings Qualified Personal Residence Trust to transfer a 2,472 square-foot section from one lot to the adjacent lot. They also separately requested the shift of a 1,018 square foot parcel. Both requests were unanimously approved.

The main topic of the meeting was Marion's developing Master Plan. With the help of the Southeastern Regional Planning and Economic Development District (SRPEDD), Marion is currently in the process of updating its Master Plan.

According to the website of the Town of Marion, the Master Plan is the "long term policy document that helps the community manage growth and change, preserve its natural resources, maintain public facilities and services, protect property rights, and build upon its strong character."

Hills noted that SRPEDD was drafting a final draft of the Master Plan document for review, following a workshop on October 24. This workshop specifically related to the town's services, facilities, and transportation system.

While Planning Board members felt that the workshop was a success and that it received a diverse cross-section of citizens, there were still some concerns.

"We need a way to reach out to more people," said Popitz. "We're still missing a lot of people with valuable input."

Ferrari proposed the idea of developing a feedback form to send into the community, hoping to give locals more opportunity to voice their opinions.

"We've been working diligently to get more information out," Ferrari said.

Marum replied, "We need to give people an avenue. They can email the Planning Board with their ideas or call. If they have an opportunity and know the avenues, we'll get better feedback and ideas. More people would like to participate ... we should make it available."

Aquaculture Farm Approval Still Pending

Marion Conservation Commission

By Jean Perry

Applicant to establish an aquaculture farm off Ram Island Shea Doonan will have to wait further for the Marion Conservation Commission to grant, or not to grant, his Request for Determination of Applicability for the project.

Continued from October 14, the public hearing was again continued until November 18 until Doonan, annoyed abutter Michael Moore of Ram Island, the harbormaster, and the Marion Board of Selectmen can further come to an agreement on placement of markers of Doonan's proposed shellfish farm.

On October 28, the commission again expressed its discomfort voting on a determination for Doonan's application until further talks can resolve Moore's issues, the selectmen's concerns, and now neighboring aquaculture farmer Catherine Brodeur's concerns.

After hearing from Doonan and Moore, Brodeur approached the podium to say that Doonan's project would be close to her site, thus inviting the possibility of cross-contamination should a disease outbreak occur. She also commented that the eastern markers encroach an area utilized by boat traffic.

"I would've thought it would be nice if you had come and introduced yourself," said Brodeur to Doonan. "We could've spoken a little bit."

Brodeur also said she thought Doonan's RDA application lacked pertinent information.

Moore continued with his enduring concerns over how Doonan pursued the project without consulting him, leaving him still unable to condone the project out of spite for Doonan's lack of communication.

"He has addressed my comments," stated Moore, "But we haven't agreed that the addressing thereof is satisfactory in my point of view."

Moore apologized to the commission for behaving "forcefully" during the last meeting, saying it was because he had only known about the project for 24 hours. He said he was reacting then, but now, calmly addressing the commission, he has had some time to think about the matter.

Moore handed out an aerial image of the site, maintaining that the aquaculture farm would encumber boat traffic, even with the subsequent changes made with the assistance of the harbormaster.

"Nothing's really changed in my perspective," said Moore.

Although Doonan wanted the commission to vote to determine the RDA, Chairman Normal Hills preferred to continue it, should further changes be made to the plan in the meantime. Hills told Doonan the selectmen have the final say on the future of the aquaculture farm whether the commission acts that night or not.

Commission member Cynthia Trinidad candidly told Doonan that she plans to vote 'nay' on the project just because of Doonan's attitude.

"These gentlemen are a lot nicer than me," said Trinidad, gesturing to the other commissioners. "I would vote 'no' already. I will probably continue to vote 'no' for this project."

Trinidad said she did not reject the idea of an aquaculture farm; rather, she resented Doonan's attitude towards the project, calling him "lackadaisical."

"There were emails [between Doonan and the commission] ... that had Mr. Moore's email on it, so you knew that we wanted you to make some kind of approach to him."

The commission members, at the end of the meeting, agreed that Doonan should have "handled the situation" differently.

Also during the meeting, the Conservation Commission granted both a positive and negative determination (no Notice of Intent required) for different aspects of a plan to repair a residential septic system for Robert Nau at 53 Piney Point Road.

John Almy received a negative determination for the demolition of two decks to be replaced by two new larger decks at 93C Piney Point Road.

Rochester ConCom Endorses Water Bylaw

Rochester Conservation Commission

By Marilou Newell

"I'm for it one hundred percent," Rochester Conservation Commission Chairman Rosemary Smith said on November 3 in response to a positive vote by the commission – voting in favor of surface water protection bylaws.

Conservation Agent Laurell Farinon, also a member of the Mattapoisett River Valley Water Supply Protection Advisory Committee (MRVWSPAC), asked the commission to review a draft of bylaws developed by the MRVWSPAC. The goal, as stated by Farinon, is to protect the surface water supply from commercial water taking and possible fresh water contamination.

Farinon reminded the ConCom that water taking from Snipatuit Pond and Mattapoisett River by various commercial entities has been a problem, not only for Rochester, but also for other towns that are members of the MRVWSPAC.

"The advisory committee has looked at this issue over the years," Farinon said. "We need a mechanism to prohibit withdrawal of surface water.... We've looked at the Wetlands Protection Act, but it is difficult to enforce.... We have to prove disturbance," said Farinon.

Farinon said she had conferred with the DEP who advised that local bylaws were "the real true way we can deal with this." She told them that the water commissioners will be sponsoring an article for a subsequent town meeting warrant for the bylaws, but wanted the Conservation Commission's support and endorsement as well. They unanimously moved to support and endorse the bylaws.

Presently, the document is a draft with language to be finalized in the coming weeks. Once that is completed, the Conservation Commission will have a final look at the bylaws before they go before the voters.

Farinon said the selectmen will announce a 2016 date for a Special Town Meeting in light of the postponement of the November 30 Special.

In other business, a Request for Determination of Applicability filed by Gordon Sylvia, 681 Walnut Plain Road, for the removal of trees blown down by storms in 2013, was given a negative determination and was approved.

A request for a Certificate of Compliance for Steven Striar, Old Schoolhouse Road, was granted.

The next meeting of the Rochester Conservation Commission is scheduled for November 17 at 7:00 pm in the Rochester Town Hall meeting room.

Waterfront Wish List Discussed

Mattapoissett Marine Advisory Board

By Marilou Newell

Mattapoissett's most sensitive and important feature is its seaside location. Protecting the harbor, the water, and surrounding waterfront features falls to several boards and committees; yet, one has been quietly striving for months to give form and meaning to a harbor master plan fit for state certification, as well as a new set of rules, regulations, and fees for the boating community.

On October 29, the Mattapoisett Marine Advisory Board met to discuss these documents and to hear from Harbormaster Jill Simmons.

MAB member Robert Moore, who was not in attendance for this meeting, has reached out to town counsel, MAB Chairman John Cornish said, to vet new rules and regulations. The MAB has been tasked by the Board of Selectmen to provide updated guidelines for the boaters using Mattapoisett's waterways, looking at everything from mooring fees to pump-out requirements for the growing recreational boating public. Not only does the MAB need to take residents' needs into consideration, but also those of visiting boaters known as transients. Usage fees are a prime focus of the MAB's task at hand.

Another major effort on the shoulders of the MAB is revising the harbor master plan into a coastal zone management document that will pass a number of state regulatory agencies.

During a previous meeting, Town Administrator Michael Gagne, along with South Coastal Regional Coordinator David Janik for the Massachusetts Coastal Zone Management Office, a branch of the Executive Office of Energy and Environmental Affairs, met with the MAB to discuss this matter. Now, months later, their work continues.

As the members poured over maps, Cornish said, "Let's think about why we are writing this ... to protect our harbor."

Simmons reported that Gagne requested the MAB's attendance at a future working meeting on November 12 with the selectmen. A time for the meeting was not confirmed. Gagne asked the MAB to prepare to discuss three main topics: 1) new fee schedule for 2016; 2) mapping for coastal zone management planning; and 3) priority list for capitol improvements along the waterfront.

The members cited insufficient information as the reason why they could not provide an updated fee structure to the selectmen.

Simmons said she had not been provided with all invoices from the town accountant's office, making it difficult to ascertain the full costs associated with the waterfront enterprise.

"I don't believe we have enough information on total expenses and income to work on new fees," said member Mike Church.

Members were able to prioritize a wish list of capitol projects pulled together by Simmons. From most important to least, the list reads: expanded dinghy dock spaces, small boat purchase for inshore work, public safety float for fire boat, additional kayak racks at various locations, piling work on Long Wharf, parking lot repaving, float for town landing, video security system, and a pump-out boat.

Simmons also presented the MAB with two conceptual drawings of potential new locations for dinghies.

In one drawing, a reconfiguration of spaces now along Barstow Pier with additional floats and a new ramp location drew positive responses from the members.

"I've been wanting this for years," said Cornish.

A second concept showed a floating dock system between the town's public beach and private property on Water Street. Simmons pointed out that there is a swim line there and a stone jetty, making the floating dock system idea another reasonable option, she felt.

"There isn't any reason why we couldn't have both," said Cornish.

The next regular meeting of the Mattapoisett Marine Advisory Board is scheduled for November 19 at 7:00 pm in the Mattapoisett Town Hall conference room.

New Student Breakfast

ORR Update

By Sienna Wurl

Change is intimidating, even for those who appear to be fearless. For the transfer students at Old Rochester Regional High School, change meant leaving their friends behind and moving into an entirely new school system, completely unsure about what to expect.

These students are on a totally different playing field from the incoming freshmen, who only had to deal with a school switch. These students were forced into a lifestyle switch. Not having previously-established friends meant walking into a new school alone, starting over from scratch, and hoping to make friends.

In order to make these transfer students feel more welcome and more at home, the Ambassador Club held a new student breakfast. Invitations were handwritten by the Ambassadors and sent to the new students of ORR. On Tuesday morning, Ambassadors and transfers flooded into the Media Center, where food was shared and friends were made.

Although taking time out of the school day to meet new people may seem odd, the students involved felt it was helpful in order to meet the people whom they may not normally run into during the school day.

"A lot of us hadn't had the opportunity to really meet them [the transfers]," said junior Tessa Camboia, "so it was really nice having a set period of time to talk to everyone."

Members of the Ambassador club were asked to bring breakfast foods and drinks. Of course, this resulted in boxes and boxes of Dunkin' Donuts. (What high schooler doesn't love Dunkin', after all?)

On top of donuts, there were homemade cinnamon rolls, fruit platters, orange juice, and a plethora of other delicious breakfast foods.

The students talked over their breakfast with old and new friends, everybody equally enjoying a sweet, delightful start to their day.

"We made their transition into this school easier," thought Diana LaRock, an Ambassador.

Was this activity actually helpful, or a bust? Not one single student had anything bad to say about the breakfast.

Ambassador Josh Garcia believed it made students feel closer to each other.

"I think that it was a great way to bring the student body together and get to know one another," Garcia said. Many, if not all, of the students felt the same way. A number of them expressed wishes for the breakfast to become an Old Rochester tradition, as junior Madison Barber said, "I look forward to it next year."

Not only did the breakfast benefit the transfers from other countries, but also transfers from other school districts and school choice freshmen. As Ambassador Julia Barrett said, "I think it was especially nice for the freshmen who were school choice because they didn't really know a lot of people, so we got to introduce ourselves to them."

Parents' Weekend

Tabor Academy News

By Madeleine Gregory

Parents' Weekend is an annual event at Tabor Academy that is greeted with much anticipation and anxiousness. The campus itself looks its best with flowerpots on every path and perfect weather. Many parents arrived on Friday night from all over, traveling across the country or even internationally, to visit their children and learn more about the Tabor lifestyle.

Parents' Weekend is kicked off by a cocktail party on Friday night where all the parents can mingle and get to know each other. Then, there are mini-classes on Saturday, in which parents are invited to sit in on 15-minute versions of each of their child's classes. They meet with advisors, get a sense of what their child's teachers are like, and can attend different lectures about college, changes in administration, and the "teenage brain." Parents of upperclassmen can also meet with college counselors during these days.

"I loved going to her classes and seeing everyone eager to learn," said Melissa Buell, mother of new sophomore Madison Buell. "It was my first time coming to Tabor, and it was really amazing seeing her in her new life." Madison added, "The teachers were beyond accommodating. They let my sister sit through classes and now she wants to apply, too."

For underclassmen, especially those whose parents live far away, Parents' Weekend is both a great time to catch up with family they haven't seen in a while, and also for parents to explore what life at Tabor is like for their child.

"My parents have come up every Parents' Weekend since I arrived sophomore year," said senior Bridget Lattimer. "I'm from Connecticut, so it's not as far, but they still love watching me play field hockey and meeting all my teachers." Susan Lattimer, Bridget's mother, said, "This year, Parents' Weekend is bittersweet. It's the start of the countdown to an exciting graduation and the prospect of having to say goodbye." Despite this, however, Susan noted how fun parents' weekend is. "We were lucky to be able to cheer on Bridget's friends at a cross country meet, then watch football, and then watch Bridget play field hockey and even catch the girls' soccer game. It was all very exciting."

All the sports games are home on Saturday, so the campus is teeming with visiting athletes and parents. The turf fields are packed with games and parents and fellow students watching Tabor teams compete with other schools.

"I loved seeing Madison at cross country with all her new friends," said Buell. "I was so impressed with the dedication and passion of the coaches during the meet, and the team was incredibly supportive of each other."

At this point in the year, most of the homesickness that new students face has dissipated, and they are just

Postseason Begins for Bulldog Sports Teams

ORR Sports

By Patrick Briand

What a week for ORR sports! A red-hot football team captured a blowout victory over Bourne, the Girls' Cross Country team rolled to another SCC Championship, and Boys' Soccer clinched a playoff spot in exciting fashion. Read on for the full scoop on this huge week for Bulldog Athletics.

Football: On the heels of two momentous victories, the Bulldogs took on Bourne at home on Friday. From the start, it was clear that Coach Kogler's team still had a high level of energy and determination and an explosive offensive attack in a 44-8 victory. However, the Bulldogs showed some newfound defensive skill this week, as they held the Canamens to just eight points. Among the notable defensive plays were a 46-yard interception return by sophomore Elijah McAllister, and a recovered fumble by junior playmaker Andrew Riggi. The offense continued to light it up as junior QB Cam Hamilton was 5-6 passing for 133 yards and two TDs. Junior wide receiver Patrick Saltmarsh returned to catch three passes from Hamilton for 55 yards. His other two passes went to tight end Grant Reuter (Jr.) who continues to play exceptional football. He also scored a TD. The most impactful player was without a doubt sophomore running back Harry Smith, who ran 17 times for 101 yards and three TDs, plus a pair of two-point conversions. Smith has nine TDs on the season and figures to be a big part of the team's offensive plans going forward. This Friday, the Bulldogs hope to keep the momentum going as they travel to Case.

Boys' Soccer: Monday at home against Case, senior Alex Tavares had a huge game in a 2-1 victory. Tavares assisted a goal to star junior Alex Sousa and later scored the game-winner as the boys inch closer to a playoff berth. On Thursday, keeping the home-field advantage against Apponequet, sophomore Tanner Figueiredo scored two goals, and fellow sophomore Ben LaFrance and junior Timothy Dix added the other two in an emotional 4-1 win. The victory allowed the team to clinch a spot in the MIAA playoffs, and their future schedule will be released on Monday, November 2.

Girls' Soccer: At Case on Monday, a common opponent for Bulldog sports teams this week, the girls earned a nice 2-0 win, powered by senior captain Amy Bichajian's goal, which came on an assist from sophomore Leah Przybyszewski. Freshman Maddie Demanche assisted sophomore Ava Ciffolillo on the other goal. Up against the rival Apponequet Lakers on Thursday, the girls suffered a tough 1-0 loss with the Lakers' only goal coming on a penalty kick. Returning home to face non-conference New Bedford High the next afternoon, the girls earned an exciting 2-1 victory with goals from Bichajian and fellow senior Sarah Beaulieu. That game wrapped up the regular season for the Lady Bulldogs, who eagerly await the playoffs.

Boys' Cross Country: Saturday marked the all-important SCC Championship, with the boys expected to be among the top teams. The result was a 2nd-place finish to Dighton-Rehoboth, but an impressive showing nevertheless. Freshman Adam Sylvia led the Bulldog pack per usual, running a personal best 17:29. Behind him were junior James Goulart, sophomore Geoffrey Noonan, and senior Jared Wheeler. On Saturday, the non-varsity runners will compete at the State Coaches' Invitational in Wrentham.

Girls' Cross Country: The Lady Bulldogs were heavy favorites coming into Saturday's SCC Championship meet, where they continued their unbroken streak of success with another conference title. They took the first eight spots, led by senior Maddie Meyer (19:40), sophomore Madisen Martin (19:58), senior Nina Bourgeois (20:02), and junior Riley Shaughnessy (20:06). On Saturday, the non-varsity girls' runners will run in Wrentham at the State Coaches' Invitational meet.

Volleyball: The Lady Bulldogs started off the week at Case on Monday, where they lost on three consecutive sets. On Wednesday they faced Sturgis West, a non-conference opponent who they played against early in the season. The girls swept Sturgis on consecutive sets, 25-19, 25-20, and 25-12. non-conference game against New Bedford High on Friday afternoon, where they were swept on three straight sets. This week, the girls are home against non-conference Somerset-Berkeley on Monday, and they look to gear up their offensive attack for their impending playoff run.

Field Hockey: At Case on Tuesday, the girls earned a blowout 5-0 victory, powered by junior Hannah Guard's two goals. Sophie Church (Jr.), Morgan Middleton (Sr.) and Ali Hulsebosch (Soph.) also scored, and sophomore Riley Goulet and freshman Gates Tenerowicz shared the workload in goal to earn the Lady Bulldogs' sixth shutout of the season. The girls resume from their break for a rare Sunday game against non-conference Falmouth High at home.

Below are the overall fall team records, followed by the conference records in wins, losses, and ties as of October 31.

To the Editor:

On behalf of the members of the Mattapoissett Police Department, I want to thank all the business owners and community members who contributed to the most successful Halloween Parade and Costume contest. The parade kicked off shortly after 6:00 pm led by the Bauer family drummers. It was wonderful to see so many participants display some very creative costumes.

Obituaries:

Long-time Mattapoisett resident George M. Barden Jr., musician, mineralogist, research genealogist, skilled carpenter/cabinetmaker, polymath, died September 28 2015, aged 97. His Big Band swing era arrangements and compositions were played by three dozen bands and performers, including a million-selling record among nearly 50 recordings of his arrangements.

George M Barden Jr. was born on November 6, 1917 in Wollaston, MA and spent his early years in and around Quincy, MA, and his junior high school and high school years in Miami, FL. He grew up in a musical household and started piano lessons at the age of six – and was still playing the piano and arranging until a few days before his death at the age of 97. But his great musical love was the trumpet; as a teenager he played first trumpet in the award-winning Miami Junior Symphony Orchestra as well as various local bands. The Miami Junior Symphony was awash in talent, and he played with and continued as friends with Leonard Rose (principal cellist of the New York Philharmonic, later a celebrated instructor at the Curtis Institute of Music and Julliard School of Music), Louis Elie (violinist in the New York Philharmonic), and Lowell "Skip" Martin (who played with Tommy Dorsey, Woody Hermann, and had a successful writing and arranging career in Hollywood).

His interest turned forever to big band swing jazz in his high school years, but he recognized the need for formal musical training, and attended Boston University School of Music starting in 1933, where he studied harmony and music theory and had the opportunity to play trumpet in the BU Symphony and was invited to play in Arthur Fiedler's City Symphony. At the end of his third year, he was invited to join the Dean Hudson Orchestra, a swing band touring the east coast of the US. Barden jumped at the chance, correctly assessing this as an opportunity to further his education at an accelerated rate. He toured with Dean Hudson from 1937 through 1941, becoming the band's arranger as well as trumpet player. When Dean Hudson and several other band members were drafted early in WW II, he joined the Royce Stoenner Orchestra, also an east coast swing band, for six months.

Many Big Bands were losing members as World War II began and personnel either enlisted or were drafted. In 1942, Glen Miller's band was the house band at the famous Café Rouge in New York (perhaps the most prestigious Big Band booking in America), but Miller and selected band members enlisted in the US Army Air Force with the mandate to make swing music part of the military marching repertoire, leaving the Café Rouge with no house band. Amid much speculation about Miller's successor, the Bob Allen Band was booked into the Café Rouge, and Bob Allen asked Barden to become the band's arranger. The band opened to high critical acclaim, including specific mention of Barden's arrangements ("Bob Allen Band Now Sensational," Down Beat, Nov 1, 1942 and "Manhattan's Music Makers," The Host, Oct 1942).

In the USAAF, Miller needed a larger staff to fulfil his mandate to modernize military music. The Draft was taking its toll on the Bob Allen Band and Barden was invited to join Miller's organization in the USAAF as an arranger, which he did, enlisting and then joining the Glen Miller USAAF Band in Atlantic City and then moving with them to New Haven. However, there were strong traditional elements in the USAAF, and Miller was encountering stiff internal opposition to his project. In 1944, Miller gave up on the idea of modern-

Soap Box Derby

Marion Cub Pack 32 invites you to our bi-annual Soap Box Derby for a cause. The Cub Scouts are collecting non-perishable food donations as well as gently used and new toys for local families in need. Collection points are the Marion Police Department and First Congregational Church of Marion until 10:00 am on November 14. On November 14, the scouts will participate in a Soap Box Derby on Holmes Street where they will continue to collect food and toys as well as show off their racing skills. Please bring a food item and watch the scouts' race.

Boys in grades 1-5 interested in joining scouts can come, meet the scouts, try one of the derby cars out after the races are finished (approximately 2:00 pm), and hang out in the "pit" with the scouts. There will be parents to answer questions and register new scouts!

izing military music, dismantled the organization, and took a smaller band to England, while the rest of his organization was dispersed. Barden stayed behind and was trained to serve as a radio operator. Yet wherever he was stationed during the war, he always also served in the band attached to that post, both as arranger and performer. Having a true eye as well as perfect pitch, he also earned a rifle marksman medal.

In 1941, Barden had married Clyda Magee of Washington DC, and they had a son in 1944, George M Barden III. But with the separations and stress imposed by military service the marriage ultimately did not survive, and they divorced. When Clyda remarried, the young boy was renamed Tom Edwards by his adoptive father, Congressman Don Edwards.

Upon his release from active duty in late 1945, Barden immediately joined the Randy Brooks Orchestra, where he initially shared arranging assignments with John Benson Brooks (no relation to Randy), eventually taking over all arranging for the band. The Randy Brooks Orchestra thrived in the post-war years, playing in many of the top venues of the day, including the Café Rouge, The Latin Quarter, Frank Dailey's Meadowbrook, the Beverly Hills Country Club, and others, recording a number of hit records, and playing many radio spots. Randy Brooks' largest-selling hit record was "Tenderly" which sold over a million records and which was arranged by Barden. The story of that particular arrangement is described in the Time-Life series of books The Swing Era, Volume 1946. This became Barden's most celebrated arrangement, and continues as a well-known musical standard to this day.

The Randy Brooks Orchestra failed in 1948 due to Brooks' failing health and an ill-advised linkage with Ina Rae Hutton's band. Barden based himself in New York and found himself in high demand as a free-lance arranger, providing arrangements for many of the top names of the day, including Vincent Lopez, Art Mooney, Vaughn Monroe, Skitch Henderson, Dizzy Gillespie, The Ames Brothers, Johnny Desmond and many others. He formed many friendships in the New York music scene, including with Emile Charlap, the premier music copyist of the day and later the 802 Music Union Contract Agent for New York City; they kept in touch until Charlap's death in 2015. He also became the staff arranger (1948-50) for Vincent Lopez, the venerable band leader whose band had permanent residence at the Grille Room in the Taft Hotel, with a radio program once per week.

Barden married Virginia Rossney in January 1947 and had two sons, Robert born in 1947 and Richard in 1948. Within a few years, seeing the direction of music changing and not wanting to follow the new trends, he quit the music business in 1951 and moved his family to Long Island, where he lived until 1980. Here, he invented a new career for himself in mechanical and electronic manufacturing, and actively participated in his sons' lives through the scouts, Little League, and school activities. During this time, he honed the carpentry skills taught to him by his father by expanding and finishing the interior of his Levitt house, and acquired a new interest in geology, mineralogy, and fossils that would stay with him for the rest of his life. He and his wife Virginia went on many rock and fossil hunting expeditions in the north eastern US, Canada, Colorado and New Mexico. They spent many happy hours polishing and finishing the rocks and making them into jewellery to sell at local craft fairs.

In 1980, Barden retired and moved to the house on Aucoot Road in Mattapoisett that his grandfather had built in 1935 and in which his mother had lived the last thirty years of her life. Together with Virginia, and doing most of the construction and finish work themselves, they doubled the size of the house and changed its character from a small cottage in the woods to a more functional family home. Together, they lived in this home until 2006 when they felt the need to downsize and moved into Mattapoisett village. Virginia died in 2012.

During the 1980's while living in Mattapoisett, he revamped the Marion Museum geology, mineralogy and fossil collection and used his cabinet making skills to build display cases to show off parts of the collection that had been stored out of sight for years. At the same time, he served on the Board of Directors of the Middleborough Historical Society and was a frequent contributor The Antiquarian magazine. Also during the 1980's through the 2000's, he served as a research genealogist with the Middleborough Library, answering queries about family history from all over the country. He was Managing Editor of a book published by the Library to be used as a research tool, Old Cemeteries of Southeastern Massachusetts (1995), the print run of which was totally sold out.

George M. Barden Jr. is survived by his sons Tom Edwards, Robert Barden and Richard Barden, and by three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Ester Victoria (Peterson) Zeimet, a beloved wife and mother died on October 22, 2015 at Wingate at Reading, after a courageous battle with dementia. She was 92 years old.

Ester was born October 8, 1923 in Boston, MA to the late Charles Richard and Talie Victoria (Zackrisson) Peterson. She grew up in Malden graduating from high school in 1940. In 1946 she received her Masters of Social Work from Simmons College. She married her childhood sweetheart Philip John Zeimet in 1948. They moved to North Reading where they lived for over 35 years and raised their family. During this time Ester studied at Andover Newton Theological School attaining a Master's in Religious Education. She was employed by the Union Congregational Church as Director of Religious Education. She later worked for the Massachusetts Conference, United Church of Christ in Framingham. Ester was also an active volunteer for a number of community organizations including the Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, church

Marion Council on Aging

The Internal Revenue Service issued another strong warning for consumers to guard against sophisticated and aggressive phone scams. The IRS will always send taxpayers a written notification of any tax due via the U.S. mail. The IRS never asks for credit card, debit card or prepaid card information over the telephone. Potential victims may be told they are entitled to big refunds or that they owe money that must be paid immediately to the IRS. When unsuccessful the first time, sometimes phone scammers call back trying a new strategy. Please, if it sounds too good to be true, it ALWAYS is!

Tickets are now available to the annual Thanksgiving dinner at the Old Rochester Regional Junior High School to be held on November 22. Transportation will be provided and meals will be delivered for the home bound. Please call the office to reserve a spot on the van or for a home-delivered meal.

The Marion Council on Aging is now participating in the Greater Boston Food Bank program called the Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP). The CSFP is a monthly food distribution program for income-qualifying individuals 60 years old or older. Each month, the qualifying person is provided with two bags of groceries. If you would like to be included, please call the COA so we may help you complete the application and provide any other details. To register for groceries in the month of December, the COA must know of your interest by November 30.

Tabor to Host Fall Dance Recital

Don't miss the Tabor Academy Fall Dance Recital on November 12 at 6:30 pm in the Fireman Center for the Performing Arts at Tabor Academy at 235 Front Street, Marion. This year, the dance team is 23 strong! They will perform five hip hop routines, a theatre routine to "Money" from Cabaret, a ballet excerpt from Paquita, a contemporary and a flamenco-style tap routine. There will be many solos and duets.

Last year was one of the strongest years yet for Tabor's dance team. The team attended three competitions and won first place awards at each. At the largest competition, Starpower in Rhode Island, the team secured their place in the world championships for their hip-hop routine.

The event is free and open to the public at 235 Front Street in Marion. Why not enjoy a night of dance in Marion?

youth groups, Rainbow Girls, student tutoring, the League of Women Voters and the Conservation Commission. She was elected to both the North Reading School Committee and Board of Selectmen where she served for many years, chairing each during her tenure.

After retirement she and Phil moved to Mattapoisett where Ester had summered since childhood. Ester pursued her interests in alternative healing practices by becoming a Practitioner in the Feldenkrais method. She also took classes and practiced Jin Shin Jyutsu, meditation and The Chakras, and explored other types of mind-body healing.

Ester was very active in the Mattapoisett Congregational Church where she served on various committees. She was a member of the choir and also sang with the Sippican Choral Society. She was a student and an instructor at The Second Half at U Mass. Dartmouth, a program for lifelong learning.

Ester loved singing and music of all types. She was an avid gardener growing both flowers and vegetables. She was always conscious of the environment and served for many years as a water tester for the Buzzards Bay Coalition. Ester was a consummate volunteer who chose causes that helped people and the environment. She was always trying new things to challenge herself and encourage the people around her.

Religion was a large part of Ester's life and she lived her life based on her beliefs. She was always understanding and forgiving, seeing the good in everyone. Even in the final years of advanced dementia she never forgot to smile and say thank you. She retained her wonderful sense of humor and was always gracious to everyone who cared for her.

Ester was the widow of Philip John Zeimetz who predeceased her in 1997. She will be greatly missed by her children, Anthony Zeimetz and his wife Barbara of Andover, Victoria Rauseo and her husband Paul of St. Augustine, FL, Steven Zeimetz and his wife Tami of Rochester, NH, and Cheryl Zeimetz of New Bedford; grandchildren Nicholas Rauseo, Melissa Rauseo, Mark Rauseo, Samuel Rauseo, William Rauseo, Kristen Rourke, Justin Zeimetz, Eric Zeimetz and Emily Zeimetz; and many nieces and nephews.

Ester, always a giver and always thinking of others, donated her body to Tufts Medical School. A memorial service will be held at the Mattapoisett Congregational Church, 27 Church Street, Mattapoisett, MA 02739, Wednesday, November 18th at 11:00 am. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Mattapoisett Congregational Church or to the Alzheimer's Association, 480 Pleasant St., Watertown, MA 02472. Arrangements are by the Croswell Funeral Home, North Reading www.croswellfuneralhome.com

Edna A. Mandeville, 92, of North Conway, NH died October 30, 2015 at Merriman House in North Conway, NH.

She was the wife of the late Roger A. Mandeville.

Born in Gardner, MA, the daughter of the late Maurice and Mary (Rod) Aziz, she lived most of her life in Mattapoisett.

Mrs. Mandeville was a communicant of St. Anthony's Church.

She was formerly employed by Wamsutta Mills for several years until her retirement.

Survivors include a daughter, Karen Augustine and her husband Bruce of Farmington, NH; 2 grandchildren, Craig Augustine and his wife Danielle of Farmington, NH and Crystal Augustine of Florida, 3 great-grandchildren, Desere, Dacotah and Caiden.

She was the sister of the late Mary Rose and Rose Debasitis.

Her Graveside Service will be held on Friday, November 6th at 11 AM in St. Anthony's Cemetery. Arrangements are with the Saunders-Dwyer Mattapoisett Home For Funerals, 50 County Rd. (Rt. 6), Mattapoisett. For online guestbook, please visit www.saundersdwyer.com.

James J. Giammalvo, 89, of New Bedford died October 30, 2015 at St. Luke's Hospital after a period of declining health.

He was the husband of Alice G. (Muir) Giammalvo.

Born in New Bedford, the son of the late Salvatore J. and Luigia (Costa) Giammalvo, he lived in New Bedford all of his life summering in Mattapoisett.

Mr. Giammalvo was a communicant of Holy Name of the Sacred Heart of Jesus Parish.

He served in the U.S. Army during World War II. After returning home from the service, he joined his father and brother Pete at Giammalvo's Market. Mr. Giammalvo continued to work and grow the store with his sons until his death.

His greatest joy was entertaining family and friends at his summer home in Mattapoisett.

Survivors include his wife; 4 sons, Richard Giammalvo and his wife Lynette of Hawaii, Paul Giammalvo and his wife Susan of Dartmouth, Dennis Giammalvo and his wife Shirley of New Bedford and David Giammalvo of Mattapoisett; 2 sisters, Rosaria "Sadie" Martin and Vita Carr, both of New Bedford; a daughter-in-law, Sandra Giammalvo of New Bedford; 11 grandchildren; 13 great-grandchildren; and many nieces and nephews.

He was the father of the late James A. Giammalvo and the brother of the late Peter Giammalvo, Salvatore "Sam" Giammalvo, Joseph Giammalvo, Frank Giammalvo and Josephine Morra.

His Funeral was held on Tuesday, November 3rd from the Saunders-Dwyer Home for Funerals, 495 Park St., New Bedford, followed by his Funeral Mass at Holy Name of the Sacred Heart of Jesus Church. Burial followed in Sacred Heart Cemetery. Visiting hours were held on Monday. In lieu of flowers, remembrances may be made to the James A. Giammalvo Scholarship Fund.

November Programs at Plumb Library

Statewide StoryWalk Day is Saturday, November 7 from 10:00 am to 1:30 pm. StoryWalks combine literacy with physical activity. To celebrate Statewide StoryWalk Day and Family Literacy Month, join the Plumb Memorial Library, 17 Constitution Way, Rochester, for Corduroy Takes a Hike StoryWalk Celebration. Read the pages of Don Freeman's classic and engaging story book Corduroy, laminated and mounted on stakes on the library grounds. Bring your own Corduroy or teddy bear along for the walk!

Enjoy bear-related activities and refreshments: Teddy Grahams, Cocoa, Corduroy craft, Select a free book for Family Literacy Month. All ages welcome, no registration needed.

The Café Parlez' selection for November is Caleb's Crossing by Geraldine Brooks. In 1665, a young man from Martha's Vineyard became the first Native American graduate of Harvard College. From the few facts that survive of this extraordinary life, Brooks creates a luminous tale of passion and belief, magic and adventure. The narrator is Bethia Mayfield who, at age 12, meets Caleb, the son of a chieftain, and the two forge a bond that draws each into the alien world of the other. Bethia also finds herself becoming entangled in Caleb's struggle to navigate between the two cultures. We will discuss this book on Monday, November 30 at 6:30 pm. Books are available at the desk.

For their November book, "Just the Facts" Nonfiction Book Discussion Group, will be reading The Astronaut Wives Club, by Lily Koppel. As America's Mercury Seven astronauts were launched on death-defying missions, television cameras focused on the brave smiles of their young wives. Overnight, these women were transformed from military spouses into American royalty. They had tea with Jackie Kennedy, appeared on

MOVIE REVIEW

Holy Ghost

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

Flesh for the Inferno*. Starring Anna Rizzo and Michael Thurber. Directed by Richard Griffin. Running time: 85 minutes. Showing at Route One Cinema Pub in North Attleboro on November 8 at 8:00pm.

Flesh for the Inferno is a menacing and evocative title for a film that works hard to earn it. The twentieth feature by Rhode Island filmmaker Richard Griffin, this is a bit of a break from his frequent focus on tongue-in-bloody-cheek grindhouse throwbacks. It gestures at vintage grindhouse, all right -- specifically the sacrilegious splatterthons of Italian maestros like Lucio Fulci -- but it takes its premise more seriously than Griffin usually allows. Four nuns confront a child-rapist priest; he shoots one and bricks the other three up behind a wall in their church. Sixteen years later, the nuns, fueled by rage and revenge, wreak supernatural havoc on a group who've arrived to clean up the church.

Indebted though it is to the tone of Fulci and Mario Bava, Flesh doesn't go in for the bizarre incoherence that Italian horror is notorious for. Griffin doesn't bring everything to a standstill so he can show off some visual effects or his own twisted imagination; the script, by Michael Varrati, keeps things lean and mean, though not very clean. True to its title, Flesh can't get enough of gore and ruined meat. The victims, mostly young people in keeping with horror-film tradition, die choking and messy. Some of the movie is gross in a way that will please gorehounds and put off most others, but who else would go to a movie called Flesh for the Inferno? It's pretty obviously not whimsical and light in the Wes Anderson style.

"This is ... brutal," says a character, and some of Flesh is as self-aware as that line indicates. (Later, someone else comments on how anticlimactic the events are, but that turns out to be misdirection.) Despite that, Griffin and Varrati take a side door into the serious subject of predatory priests. This isn't Griffin's first time at the rodeo of blasphemy, of course -- he helmed 2009's zesty grindhouse goof Nun of That, starring Sarah Nicklin, who appears here as an amusingly cynical prostitute. I imagine some Catholics would rather do anything else than indulge Griffin's church-bashing, while other Catholics, especially lapsed ones, will eat it up.

Griffin's body of work, which kicked off in 2000 with a criminally obscure adaptation of Titus Andronicus, expresses a love of cinema, particularly disreputable cinema. (After all, he adapted Titus Andronicus, Shakespeare's goriest and least prestigious play, not King Lear.) That's why, as bloody and rage-filled as Flesh for the Inferno is, you can still almost hear Griffin cackling behind the camera. He relishes working in this lurid, sanguinary Italian style, and his enthusiasm is contagious. Personality peeks through, no matter how grotesque or how unpleasant the scenario is, and that's a rare commodity that links Griffin's work with the movies and moviemakers he loves.

Mr. Gloss, a frequent guest appraiser on PBS' Antiques Roadshow, will talk in part about the history of his historic bookshop, one of America's oldest and largest antiquarian bookstores going back to around 1825. He will also show some of his favorite finds and describe some of the joys of the "hunt," as well as explain what makes a book go up in value. He has many fascinating anecdotes to share as well as guidelines for what to look for when starting a collection.

In Antiques Roadshow fashion, following the talk, Mr. Gloss will offer free verbal appraisals of all books attendees have brought with them.

Ken has appeared as a guest appraiser on PBS's Antiques Roadshow numerous times over the years and has been a popular guest on WBZ Radio as well as other radio, TV, and cable stations. His bylined articles continue to appear in various antique journals and in print and online consumer publications.

Medicare and Medication

From $0 to $48 a month! Just like that! This is what someone just realized they would have had to pay with the changes to their stand-alone drug plan. Luckily, that person was able to find a better plan to keep their costs down. How? They met with a S.H.I.N.E. Counselor at the COA, and so should you! Chances are you may not really know if you need your insurance changed unless you have a review of your current plan, and there is only a small window of time to check on it. The Medicare Open Enrollment Period is October 15 - December 7 (Changes will take effect on January 1).

On Monday, November 16 from 4:00 to 5:00 pm, there will be a comprehensive insurance presentation by regional representatives from S.H.I.N.E. (Serving Health Information Needs of Elders). It is highly recommended that anyone 65+ (or who will be) attend this session. Call

Mini-Organ Festival

The closing recital in the Mini-Organ Festival at the First Congregational Church in Marion, Massachusetts, will be given by noted organist Steven Young on Sunday, November 15 at 4:00 pm. The recital will feature the church's historic mechanical-action George S. Hutchings pipe organ.

In addition to works by J. S. Bach, Young will perform music of Vincent Lübeck, Henry M. Dunham, William Bolcom, and John Knowles Paine.

Steven Young is the organist and music director at the Episcopal Church of St. Thomas in Taunton, Massachusetts, and serves as professor of music and director of choral activities at Bridgewater State University. Young has performed throughout the United States and Europe as an organ soloist and accompanist and has presented recitals, workshops, and clinics for regional and national conventions of the American Guild of Organists and the Organ Historical Society. He earned degrees in organ performance from Barrington College and New England Conservatory of Music, as well as the doctor of musical arts from Boston University. He holds the associate certificate from the American Guild of Organists. In 2009, Young recorded the first volume of the organ works of Henry M. Dunham, a major figure in the Boston area at the beginning of the 20th century, on the AFKA label.

The First Congregational Church in Marion was built in 1841. In 1883, with support from local philanthropist Elizabeth Taber, a new organ by George S. Hutchings was commissioned and installed in 1884. Hutchings was prominent among American organ builders and built organs for the old Boston Music Hall, the Old South Church, and Symphony Hall.

Tickets for the recital may be purchased at $10 at The Bookstall on Front Street in Marion and at the door. For more information and reservations, call 508-748-2067.

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Deciding to work out that pesky problem (even though you might have been bored, bored, bored with it) should be paying off right about now. Expect to hear some very welcome news very soon.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Unexpected news might cause you to rethink a previous conclusion. Don't be bullheaded and try to bluff it out. Make the needed change, and then take a bow for your objectivity.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Money matters should be considered as you continue to work out your holiday plans. This is a good time to scout out discounts before demand for them outstrips their availability.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) A calm period early in the week helps you complete most, if not all, of your unfinished tasks. A new project appears by midweek, and this one could carry some big career potential.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Positive results from recent ventures continue to pump up those self-esteem levels, making you Fabulous Felines feel you can tackle any challenge anyone wants to throw at you.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Family and friends might feel neglected because of your almost total focus on a project. Try to rework your schedule so you can have time for both your loved ones and your work.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Don't be surprised if you suddenly hear from someone from your past who wants to contact you about the possibility of renewing a long-dormant (if not dead) relationship.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) This is a good time to check over what went right and what went wrong with recent efforts. This can provide valuable lessons for projects that will be coming up soon.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Dealing with people who feel they're always right about everything might be a problem for some. But the savvy Archer should be able to deflate their oversize egos.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) This week favors a balance between the demands of your work and your need for fun timeouts. Taking breaks helps restore and keep your energy levels high.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) There could be an occasional setback in what you're working on. But look at them as lessons on how to do better as you move along. More supporters turn up to cheer you on.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Although a more positive aspect influences this week's course, you still need to be sure that those who will work with you have no reason to work against you. Good luck.

BORN THIS WEEK: You believe in keeping your promises. It's not always easy to do, but somehow you do it.

Special Olympics at Tabor Academy

Special Olympics Massachusetts (SOMA) is excited to announce its newest Young Athletes program. In partnership with Tabor Academy in Marion, MA, this program will bring developmentally appropriate active play to families in the South Coast region. Special Olympics Young Athletes™ is a unique sport and play program for children with intellectual and developmental disabilities. The focus is on fun activities that are important to mental and physical growth. Through the program, children between the ages of 2 and 7 years will be introduced to games and active programs designed to develop motor skills and hand-eye coordination.

The program at Tabor was born of a partnership between math teacher, Tim Cleary and Senior, Molly Bent. Mr. Cleary joined the Tabor faculty in 2015 coming from Suffield Academy (CT). Speaking on his involvement in Special Olympics, Mr. Cleary said "I was lucky enough to work with a passionate group of students at my last school as we brought Special Olympics programming to campus in a meaningful way. When we made the decision to bring our family up to Marion and Tabor Academy, I knew this was work I wanted to continue." He added, "It is a great chance to use the beautiful facilities that Tabor has for a population that sometimes struggles to find field or court space. Not only that, it gives Tabor students an opportunity to learn about life through a different lens." As it turns out, the Tabor community is excited about this opportunity to give back. Cleary remarked, "Over 120 students wanted to be part of our Special Olympics group. Everyone at Tabor has been so supportive of us moving forward with this important work."

The other driving force behind the program is Tabor Senior Molly Bent who said, "When Mr. Cleary mentioned that he wanted to start a Special Olympics program here at Tabor, I thought it was a great idea. I think the Tabor community will bring a lot of enthusiasm when helping out with the Young Athletes. And I also think they will really enjoy the opportunity to work with these kids – it's almost impossible to leave something like this without a smile on your face." Molly's sister, Sarah, is an 11 year-old with Downs Syndrome who visits campus to see Molly play sports. It was the welcoming nature and culture of caring that gave Molly confidence that Tabor would be a good fit for the program explaining, "Every time she [Sarah] comes to Tabor, the community is always so nice to her. My friends love to come up to her and say hello, and just a few weeks ago, two students and a teacher walked her to my soccer game when they saw her walking near the wrong field."

This is not Molly's first experience with Special Olympics Massachusetts. Ten years ago, Molly's mother started participating in the Hyannis Jolly Jaunt – a 5K race to benefit Special Olympics Massachusetts. Her team is "Sarah's team," in honor of her daughter. "Our family and friends have been incredibly supportive and many of them are members of our team each year. My soccer and basketball teammates at Tabor, as well as some other students and teachers, have ran for Sarah's team the past two years. It is such a fun event!" said Molly.

This program is kicking off with free "Open House" sessions this fall. Please join us from 2:00 - 3:00 pm on November 8, November 15, December 6 and December 13 at Cardinal Cushing Centers, 405 Washington Street, Hanover, MA. A full eight-week program will begin in January 2016. Additional information can be found at www.specialolympicsma.org/youngathletes.

Free Public Service Announcements at ORCTV

Old Rochester Community Television (ORCTV) is offering another free public service announcement shoot for your organization or group. We are opening up our studios on November 16, 17 and 18 for you and/or your group to come in and have a one- to five-minute PSA taped about your organization.

ORCTV will cover all of the technical aspects. You just need to speak about your mission, goals, needs and/or events. We can use your logo, photos, address, phone and website address as graphics. We can help you with scripting if needed and incorporate other graphics as desired.

The PSAs will play on the local cable channels and can be seen by thousands of Tri-Town residents. ORCTV channels are seen by anyone who has Comcast or Verizon cable. Please use this opportunity to raise awareness for your mission and goals or to let residents know who you are. This is a FREE service to local nonprofits, organizations, groups and town departments.

Marion Art Center Hosts Holiday Events

The Marion Art Center will start the season of giving with a gala opening of its Annual Holiday Shop on Friday, November 20 from 6:00 to 8:00 pm. Both galleries will feature one-of-a-kind and limited-edition gifts in ceramics, fiber, photographs, wood, jewelry, paintings, glass, collage, toys, painted furniture, and more. Truman Terrell will entertain on piano in the theater while shoppers enjoy food and wine at the opening. Over 30 artisans will be selling their fine arts and crafts through December 18.

Holiday Shop Hours: Tuesday - Friday, 1:00 to 5:00 pm and Saturdays, 10:00 am to 2:00 pm. Admission is free and all are welcome to come and browse the galleries to find the perfect gift for that special someone.

Special Holiday Events at MAC: Starting at 10:00 am on Saturday, December 12, Timothy Wade, local sand and ice sculptor and painter, will give an ice carving demonstration on the patio outside the Art Center on the Pleasant Street side. Meanwhile, inside the Art Center, local pastel artist Kim Weineck will give a pastel painting demonstration. Visitors are invited to come and watch both artisans as they transform ice into sculpture and apply pastels to paper to create beautiful portraits and landscapes. The Marion Art Center is one of the stops on

The Occasion Singers: "Holiday Cabaret!"

The Marion Art Center is pleased to host a Holiday Cabaret concert performance by the Occasion Singers on Friday, December 18 at 7:30 pm. Under the direction of Cassandra Morgan, who will also accompany on keyboard, audiences will be treated to holiday favorites including White Christmas, Christmas Tonight, Rudolph, and many more, all sung in the velvety harmonies for which the Occasion Singers are known.

Even if you have done all your shopping, the Marion Art Center Holiday Shop will be open before, during and after the show loaded with one-of-a-kind and limited-edition artisan gifts, stocking stuffers, and beautiful paintings, ceramics and fine art jewelry. So come, relax, be entertained and finish up your holiday shopping. Gather your friends, reserve a table, bring your own refreshments and enjoy a wonderful night of song, shopping and friendship! ## I Found the Aardvark!

Each week, hidden somewhere in the pages of The Wanderer is a tiny drawing of an aardvark. The little guy you are looking for looks exactly like the one pictured above (but don't put down this page as your answer, there's another one hidden somewhere in this issue).

Once you find the aardvark you can submit your answer online and if you are right you will get Aardvark Points! You can then use these points to get cool Aardvark Prizes!

To enter visit: www.wanderer.com and Click on I Found the Aardvark

In the October 29, 2015 issue the Aardvark was on page 17!
